

Bennett Currie (2014) Limited – Privacy Policy

Bennett Currie (2014) Limited complies with the New Zealand Privacy Act 1993 when dealing with personal information. This policy does not limit or exclude any of your rights under the Act.

Where do we collect your personal information from:

- From you via email, our website or in person
- From publicly available information
- From third parties with your authorisation

Why do we need your personal information:

- To verify your identity and address to comply with our obligations under the AML/CFT Act 2009
- To provide services to you
- To invoice you for work completed
- For other purposes authorised by you or the Act

Who do we disclose your personal information to:

- Any business that supports our services, including any person that hosts or maintains our IT systems, website provider
- Any agency for the purpose of credit checking you
- Statistical and Government agencies
- Any person authorised by the Act
- Any person including your bank authorised by you

Protecting your personal information:

We will take reasonable steps to protect your personal information from loss, unauthorised activity or misuse. Our systems are backed up daily on a cloud backup.

You have the right to access your personal information and to request any corrections. We will make any correction that we are reasonably able to. You will need to provide evidence to confirm that you are the individual who the personal information relates to.

Internet use:

We take reasonable steps to maintain secure internet connections, however providing your personal information over the internet is at your own risk.

Before following any links to other websites on our website, we suggest you review that sites privacy policy prior to providing any personal information.

We use cookies to monitor your use of this website. You may disable cookies by changing the settings on your browser, although this may mean that you cannot use all of the features of the website.